and the other two were 2.00 each. We were able to get a group of about 20 people to go along with us. The trip was very successful.

one place there was an open space of about seventeen miles. It was covered with trees. The plateau was broken by numerous small hills or mounds of drifts of sand which had been washed down by water or washed up by wind. In one place there were two hills close together, one of them being a low mound of drifts of sand, the other a higher, rocky hill. This hill was covered with trees, and the drifts of sand were washed down from it.
