

A group of people in traditional Indian attire standing on a stage in front of a white van with a banner, addressing a seated audience outdoors.